

Company Description

Ormazabal UK is the subsidiary company of Ormazabal in the UK, providing Medium and High Voltage products according to IEC and ENA standards as well as customized solutions and services to the UK market based on our products.

Information

 Deadline: 2018-11-30
 Category: Business
 Province: Merseyside

 Country: United Kingdom
 City: St Helens

Company

Ormazabal

Main functions, requisites & benefits

Main functions

- Be in charge of the protection and control design engineering. - Give technical support to the commercial area in collaboration with the Production Manager to analyse technical specification received from customers and define the P&C solution in the quotation stage.
- Define standard solutions in collaboration with Production Area in order to improve the efficiency and lead time of the projects.
- Prepare and maintain standard electrical drawings according to customer specifications, (DNO's, etc.).
- Give technical advice within the organization in protection and control design.
- Clarify and answer technical queries received from customers, attending technical meetings together with the sales engineers if necessary.
- After receiving an order:
 - o Closely collaborate with Production Manager to define the scope of supply to place the orders to our business units, (switchgears, transformers, etc.), and to the local suppliers, (P&C components, VT's & CT's, etc.).
 - o Give technical support to the production technicians during the manufacturing and FAT.
 - o Give technical support to the service engineers during the installation and commissioning activities.

Requisites

- Knowledge of different electrical software tools as AUTOCAD and EPLAN - Electrical distribution network experience, mainly 11kV and 33kV.
- Protection and control systems design experience according to DNO standards in the UK.
- Commercial skills
- Project management - Good knowledge of protection relays would be an advantage with experience of setting and creation of PSL's

Benefits

Pension scheme; Medical Insurance