SOFTWARE DEVELOPER – BILBAO OFFICE

Company Description

Comalatech is a global technology company with team members based in Canada, the United States, Australia and Spain. We develop top-selling apps for Atlassian products like Jira and Confluence, leading tools for software development and collaboration. Our products enhance team work for thousands of businesses across the world. We provide collaboration, document management, and agile solutions to organizations ranging from small businesses to Fortune 500's

Information

Deadline: 2019-12-30
Category: Business
Province: Bizkaia
Country: Basque Country
City: Bilbao

Company

Comalatech

Main functions, requisites & benefits

Main functions

We are looking for a permanent, full-time Software Developer to help us build and maintain our cloud and server Atlassian products. This position, based in our Bilbao office, is ideal for someone who enjoys both back-end and front-end work. We are a small but growing team. At Comalatech you will have the opportunity to get involved in every stage of the development life cycle, and occasionally help out with a difficult support ticket or DevOps related problems. If you are passionate about coding and take pride in producing quality software, then we have an opportunity for you.

Requisites

You have experience building web applications, can wrangle a maven or webpack build and you know how to get a feature through testing/documentation/deployment to customers. You can build a UI using javascript; you don't have to be a designer, but should have a good eye for usability. Solid written and verbal English language skills Development experience with one of the technology stacks that we use; Java, nodejs BONUS SKILLS AND QUALIFICATIONS Knowledge of Confluence and Jira Javascript frameworks like React/Redux Experience building Atlassian apps Knowledge of Cloud platforms such as Heroku or AWS A second or third spoken language

Benefits

Being a Comalatechie means joining a team that is dedicated, innovative, diverse, and above all fun. Think you would be a fit in our unique culture? Check out our current openings below.

Competitive Salary
We respect the cost of living of our globally distributed team. We pay a competitive salary relevant to your location.

Collaborative Spirit
At the core of Comalatech is a dedication building great online collaboration tools. We don't just create these tools, we use them every day to communicate with our team.

Paid Training Assistance
We want team members who are motivated to learn. To that end we will contribute to approved training courses, seminars, and events.

A Thriving Culture