CIC biomaGUNE is a non-profit research center launched with the mission of creating, producing, promoting and applying scientific and technological knowledge in the fields of biomaterials, molecular imaging and regenerative medicine.

Main functions, requisites & benefits

Main functions

Job description: The role of the External R&D Services Technician will be to increase the provision of external services to industrial partners by handling the customer communication channels, managing the scientific and technological services and promoting participation of industrial partners in research projects.

Requisites

This position requires close interaction with research and technical staff at CIC biomaGUNE and extensive knowledge of the Basque bio-industry ecosystem. The successful candidate will report to both the Scientific Director and the Technology Transfer Officer.