

Company Description

We have an opening for you. Everything is ready. We have fascinating projects and an eager team ready to meet you. In Pierburg, as one of the leading suppliers in the automotive industry we offer you all the security of a Corporate Group. Pierburg is integrated into the KSPG Automotive Group which is in turn integrated in the Rheinmetall Group. Our production processes are distinguished by the use of the most recent technology. For you this means: a job with training opportunities, perspective and options to work internationally. Sound good? Then get on board.

Information

 Deadline: 2022-08-31    
  Country: Basque Country
 Category: Business    
  City: Abadiño
 Province: Bizkaia

Company

Pierburg

Main functions, requisites & benefits

Main functions

Creation of test specifications for the verification and validation of embedded hardware level Operation of HW test systems and test benches Programming of test cases (e.g. electric pulses) Execution and documentation of internal HW tests Investigation of errors and assistance in troubleshooting Communication and representation of the test results in front of internal and external customers

Requisites

Professional skills Degree in electrical engineering or similar, with several years of professional experience in Hardware development or testing Good knowledge in the areas of digital and analog switching technology (microcontroller and power electronics components) Good knowledge in the use of measuring equipment Good system understanding of mechatronic systems Good knowledge of model-based SW development Good knowledge in LabVIEW programming Good knowledge of MS Office tools Knowledge of EMC standards in the automotive industry Knowledge of Electrical standards in the automotive industry Further requirements: Very good knowledge of Spanish, both written and spoken Good knowledge of English, both written and spoken Knowledge of German would be beneficial Soft skills: Creativity Ability to quickly familiarize yourself with different topics and teams Analytical approach Confident and engaging appearance Ability to communicate and work in a team Commitment and flexibility

