

Company Description

Cocoon Bioscience specializes in the manufacturing of high performance growth factors and enzymes using an automated platform leveraging cocooned insects as natural, low cost bioreactors.

Information

 Deadline: 2024-03-08
 Category: Business
 Province: Bizkaia

 Country: Basque Country
 City: Derio

Company

Cocoon Bioscience S.L.

Cocoon
 PROTEINS FOR SUSTAINABILITY

Main functions, requisites & benefits

Main functions

To plan, coordinate and supervise the maintenance of facilities, machinery and systems, as well as new projects in the field, with the aim of ensuring optimal operation and performance improvement, ensuring the good quality of the service and compliance with the established deadlines. To define and monitor engineering projects, as well as the maintenance specifications of equipment and facilities in the specifications and subcontracts. To ensure the proper functioning of equipment and technical installations. To ensure compliance with current regulations (GMP, HSE, organization and contracting of works and services, etc.) that derive from their area. To implement in collaboration with the Guarantee department the qualification and calibration plan. To train, develop and motivate the staff in charge.

Requisites

Industrial Engineering - Industrial Technician or similar. Experience Previous experience in managing an engineering department in accordance with GMP requirements for the manufacture of cGMP products. Specific training Familiarity with biological and/or purification processes and equipment. Other valuable knowledge Leadership, proactivity and team management skills, as well as readiness to perform in a high growth start-up environment Attitude and Aptitudes Positive attitude; Analysis capacity; Compromise with the Company; Continuous improvement focus; Social and leadership skills; Honesty; Problem solving skills; Flexibility and adaptation skills; Proactive attitude; Responsible; Team player.

Benefits

State-of-the-art technology, innovative and challenging project. Stable project with attractive salary package and defined professional development.